Incident Response Readiness Assessment

Put your incident response plan to the test.

Identify Gaps & Know What Works

Security incidents are inevitable; the damage caused isn't. Protecting your organization requires an incident response (IR) plan that is continually reviewed and updated to adjust to changes in your organization and threat landscape.

Our Incident Response team uses nearly two decades of front line cyber incident experience to evaluate your IR capabilities with viable, probable attack scenarios. We understand what fails, what works, and how to apply this knowledge with best practices to help you react quickly to minimize damage when an incident occurs.

With this assessment, you will know your blind spots and gain tactical, strategic recommendations that enable you to respond to threats with confidence.

PROSESS ⟩⟩

Approximate 2-Week Duration

Evaluation

Your existing IR plan, including team roles and responsibilities, policies and procedures, and security controls are reviewed by our experts.

Analysis

Gaps and opportunities for improvement are identified using our experience and industry best practices.

Hands-On Testing

Your team's awareness of current IR processes and effectiveness in identifying and responding to an incident is evaluated.
