AMENDMENT TO NOTICE OF FUNDING AVAILABILITY (NOFA)

FY 2025 IMMIGRANT JUSTICE LEGAL SERVICES GRANT

This Notice supersedes the NOFA Notice published on The Mayor's Office on Community Affairs and ServeDC Websites on 4/30/2024.

The New Request for Application (RFA) Release Date is TUESDAY, May 28, 2024

A. Background Information

The Executive Office of Mayor Muriel Bowser and The Mayor's Office on Latino Affairs (MOLA) are soliciting grant applications for its FY 2025 (FY25) Immigrant Justice Legal Services (IJLS) Grant from qualified Community-Based Organizations (CBOs), Private Organizations, Associations, and Law Firms serving the District of Columbia's community.

The grant funds are intended to support the provision of legal services to the immigrant population, including mobilizing pro-bono talent or skilled immigration attorneys and legal professionals to provide immigrant justice legal services, as well as language access services to other grantees to effectuate the legal services provided. The FY25 IJLS Grant offers a one-time grant for organizations applying for the first-time, and a multi-year grant available only to organizations that have been an IJLS grantee for at least two years.

MOLA's mission is to improve the quality of life of the District's Latino residents by addressing a broad range of social and economic needs through strategic management of public and private partnerships, expertise on policy, community relations, civic engagement, and community-based grants and to ensure Latinos have access to vital programs and services offered by DC in the areas of human services, health, education, housing, economic development, and employment opportunities. MOLA has served the Latino community of the District of Columbia since 1976.

B. Funding Priorities

To qualify for the IJLS grant the applicant needs to provide services in at least one of the seven (7) funding areas listed below:

1. Know Your Rights Presentations, this includes briefings or workshops where the applicant is educating the immigrant community in Washington, DC about their legal rights and options. For the purposes of this grant, the applicant hosting the "Know Your Rights" presentation needs to be an attorney or an accredited representative or collaborate with an organization that has an attorney or an accredited representative on staff who runs these presentations. If an attorney or an accredited representative is not present at a “Know Your Rights” presentation, it will not qualify as a funded activity under the IJLS grant.

2. Brief legal representations, includes limited scope representations, brief legal consultations, legal screenings and making appropriate referrals to pro bono or paid counsel with little ongoing oversight for possible legal relief, for individual persons, on immigration matters such as but not limited to, review of N-400 citizenship applications or filing renewal applications and assisting with legal preparedness should a family member be detained or deported.
3. Full legal representations, includes full representation by staff attorneys, paid outside counsel, or pro bono counsel supervised by or in conjunction with the applicant organization, on the array of immigration matters including but not limited to helping DC residents apply for green cards, making affirmative and defensive USCIS filings, such as filing applications for S, T, U, Special Immigrant Juvenile visas and Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) petitions for DC residents or family members of DC residents; providing legal help for family reunification efforts for families with at least one DC resident such as through spousal visas, or adult children sponsoring their parents; resolving legal issues as part of preparation for green card or citizenship applications; preparing affirmative and defensive asylum applications and providing legal representation at asylum interviews and/or hearings for DC residents; representing DC residents who are in removal proceedings, including filing petitions of cancellation of removal, where such applications have a reasonable likelihood of success (e.g., for persons who are not detained for a serious criminal offense involving a crime of moral turpitude at the time representation begins). Depending on the level of help offered, full legal representation may include protecting the financial assets and custody for DC children in the face of potential deportation of parents or guardians; and helping DC families provide foster homes, adopt, or sponsor refugees and children from war-torn countries.
4. Protect temporary protected status (TPS) holders in Washington D.C., organizing and conducting full legal campaigns to protect TPS holders in Washington, DC, including using communications, organizing, possible structural litigation, as well as individual legal representation.
5. Structural litigation, which can include filing any lawsuits that may become necessary to challenge federal practices or interpretations of immigration law that violate the rights of immigrants, with plaintiffs who are DC resident immigrants.
6. Capacity Building entails building non-profit organization capacity to provide continuing legal representation to Washington, DC immigrants, and/or train and mentor pro bono attorneys to perform any of the above tasks, and otherwise build long-lasting capacity to provide legal services to the District’s immigrant population on their immigration-related legal issues.

7. Language Access Services involves providing culturally competent language access services to other IJLS grantees on an unlimited and as needed basis (to the greatest feasible extent) for IJLS grantees to fulfill their grant obligations, supplementing, if necessary, a language access program funded with other dollars. Services shall be delivered by persons trained in providing interpretation of legal documents and on legal matters, across a broad range of languages spoken by immigrants in Washington, DC.

C. Target Population

The target population for the use of these funds are immigrant residents in the District of Columbia and families of mixed immigration status with at least one family member in the District of Columbia, except for the final category of services targeted to IJLS grantees. Although we do not require organizational applicants to inquire as to the income of their clients, the expectation is that legal services will be delivered through this grant to persons who could not afford full-priced paid legal representation on a free or low-cost, affordable basis.

D. Eligibility Criteria

Applicants shall meet the following minimum requirements to be considered for the FY25 IJLS Grant:

1. The organization is a CBO with a Federal 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status or evidence of fiscal agent relationship with a 501(c)(3) organization; or be a private entity, such as a coalition or association, that is partnering with one or more 501(c)(3) organizations;
2. The organization's principal place of business must be located in the District of Columbia; or, if a national or regional organization, it must have a location in the District through which it provides services;
3. The organization must provide legal services to the DC immigrant population or collaborate with an organization and/or attorney who provides legal services to the DC immigrant population through the organizational efforts of the applicant;
4. The organization must be currently registered in good standing with the DC Department of Licensing and Consumer Protection, Corporation Division, and the Office of Tax and Revenue;
5. All services and programming to receive funds must be provided in the District of Columbia except where a DC resident is in a detention facility outside the District; in that case, services can be rendered at the detention facility, or where someone is outside the District and seeking to reunite with District resident family members and services need to be rendered to the person outside the District; and

6. (This requirement applies only to Current IJLS grantees) Current grantees must be current on IJLS reporting obligations for the FY24 grant cycle and those reports must reflect substantial progress towards the goals of their grant agreement.
