HOW CAN I REQUEST MY DRIVER RECORD?

District of Columbia residents, previous residents, and drivers who received a moving violation in the District may request a non-certified or certified copy of their three-year, five-year, ten-year, or full history driver record from the DC Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) online at https://dmv.dc.gov/node/1119281.

A certified driver record is required for official purposes. You may also request a certified or non-certified copy of your driver record by visiting a DC DMV Service Center or by mail by sending a letter and the required documents and fees to:

> DC DMV
> Attn: Driver Records
> PO Box 90120
> Washington, DC 20090

When sending your request by mail, your letter should include your: full name, date of birth, Social Security number, and driver license number. Also, be sure to include a photocopy of your proof of identification. Make checks or money orders payable to DC Treasurer. DC DMV does not accept cash payments by mail.

In-person requests require proof of identification. For payment, DC DMV accepts credit cards, cash, checks, and money orders. The agency accepts Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Discover credit cards. The fees are $7 for a three- or five-year record and $13 for a 10-year or full record.

If you request your driver record online, you will be able to print it after the transaction is complete. Also, a copy will be sent to the email address you provide. If you request your driver record in-person, then you will receive it immediately. If you request your driver record by mail, you will receive it within 14 business days. To protect the privacy of individuals, DC DMV does not provide driver record information over the phone.

DISTRICT of COLUMBIA DRIVER RECORD

WHAT IS A DRIVER RECORD?

A driver record is a compilation of your driving history. It contains information about the District of Columbia driver license or identification card issued to you, including withdrawals, citations/violations, and points.

dmv.dc.gov

WHAT INFORMATION DOES MY DRIVER RECORD CONTAIN?

1 PERSONAL INFORMATION

Personal information is the same information you will find in your driver license or ID card, such as full name, address, date of birth, and driver license number.

2 LICENSE/ID DETAILS

This section lists all licenses and IDs you have been issued by DC DMV.

3 WITHDRAWALS

If your license has previously been suspended, revoked, and/or disqualified due to citations or violations, your driver record will have a Withdrawals section.

4 CONVICTIONS/VIOLATIONS

If you have convictions/violations, they will be listed on your driver record. (Note: Parking/photo enforcement violations are not listed.) Convictions and/or violations are listed with the most recent event first.

5 SUMMARY OF GOOD POINTS

DC DMV allows DC license holders to obtain Good Points. You receive one Good Point for every calendar year in which you do not receive a moving violation. Good Points accrue at the beginning of each year for the previous year. Good Points are automatically applied to the oldest moving violation on your driver record and reduce the total points for that violation, as well as your total points overall. Good Points are not applied to major moving violations.

Unused Good Points expire in five years. You can maintain up to a maximum of five Good Points on your driver record.

LICENSE/ID DETAILS

- Vehicle Class: The types of vehicles you are licensed to drive. A full listing of available vehicle classes is provided at the end of the driver record.
