Your Voice Matters! What's the state of preschool education for children ages 3-5 in South Dakota?

The South Dakota departments of Education and Social Services are conducting a study to assist the state in understanding the current landscape of preschool education (for children ages 3-5) in South Dakota.
You are invited to share information at a listening session about the preschool opportunities currently available to families across the state.

Who: Parents of children ages 3-5 or soon to be 3-5, preschool teachers, administrators, business partners, and community members with information to share about preschool where they live.
What: Participate in a 45-min listening session at any of 5 locations.

Brookings: March 6, 6:30 p.m. (Central Time), Brookings Public Library, 515 3rd St, Brookings, SD 57006
