The DC Preservation League (DCPL), founded in 1971 as “Don’t Tear It Down,” is a nonprofit membership-supported organization dedicated to preserving and enhancing Washington’s historic buildings and open spaces for future generations. As Washington’s citywide preservation advocacy organization, DCPL identifies significant buildings and neighborhoods throughout the District, monitors threats to them, and increases public awareness of historic resources.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the UK (Mental Health Act 1983).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a strategy for mental health care in the UK. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- People with mental health problems should be treated as individuals, with their own needs and wishes.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to participate in decisions about their care.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to live in their own homes and communities.

The strategy also sets out a number of objectives for mental health care in the UK:

- To reduce the number of people with mental health problems who are admitted to hospital.
- To improve the quality of care for people with mental health problems.
- To improve the support available to people with mental health problems.
- To improve the awareness of mental health problems in the general public.

The strategy also sets out a number of actions that should be taken to achieve these objectives:

- To improve the quality of care for people with mental health problems, the following actions should be taken:
  - To ensure that people with mental health problems are given the opportunity to participate in decisions about their care.
  - To ensure that people with mental health problems are given the opportunity to live in their own homes and communities.

The strategy also sets out a number of actions that should be taken to improve the support available to people with mental health problems:

- To improve the support available to people with mental health problems, the following actions should be taken:
  - To ensure that people with mental health problems are given the opportunity to participate in decisions about their care.
