

FEBRUARY MEETING, 2018

*The University of Michigan
Ann Arbor
February 15, 2018*

The regents met at 3:43 p.m. in the Anderson Room, Michigan Union. Present were President Schlissel and Regents Behm, Ilitch, Richner, Ryder Diggs and White. Also present were Chancellor Borrego, Vice President Churchill, Vice President Harper, Executive Vice President Hegarty, Vice President Hu, Chancellor Little, Vice President Lynch, Vice President May, Vice President Michels, Provost Philbert, Interim Vice President Rosenberg, Executive Vice President Runge and Vice President Wilbanks. Regents Bernstein, Newman and Weiser participated by conference call.

Call to Order and President's Opening Remarks

President Schlissel began by offering sympathy to the Parkwood, Florida community following the shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School. He said, "If we really can't figure out how to keep our children safe, then there really isn't much else that matters."

President Schlissel turned to a supplemental personnel item recommending the appointment of Domenico Grasso as the next chancellor of UM-Dearborn following a competitive national search. Mr. Grasso served as provost at the University of Delaware, vice president for research and dean for graduate education at the University of Vermont, and founding director of engineering at Smith College. He is a veteran of the United States Army, was a first-generation college student and earned his Ph.D. in environmental engineering from UM.

President Schlissel thanked the Board of Regents, the search advisory committee, and co-chair, professor of engineering Ghassan Kridli, for their dedication to this process. Dr. Grasso's appointment will begin August 1, 2018. He and his wife Susan were present at the meeting and received a round of applause.

President Schlissel reported that Governor Snyder has recommended increases in state support for the coming year as follows: two percent for UM-Ann Arbor, 2.6 percent for UM-Dearborn and 2.3 percent for UM-Flint. This continues the recent re-investment in public higher education in Michigan and would, for the first time, get the University back to the level of state funding that existed in 2011.

President Schlissel continued with recommendations of four faculty members for Thurnau Professorships. This year's Thurnau recommendations are: Eric F. Bell, professor of astronomy and professor in the Honors Program; Jason P. De León, associate professor of anthropology; Jason P. McCormick, associate professor of civil and environmental engineering; and Ellen H. Rowe, professor of music. Thurnau nominations are made by deans, associate deans, chairs and academic program directors. He congratulated all of the nominees.

President Schlissel then turned to the horrific problem of sexual misconduct that has taken on renewed prominence in the national conscience through the heartbreaking accounts of brave survivors. He commended their courageous efforts to demand justice, inspire fellow survivors and bring about positive change.

UM recently learned of sexual misconduct involving a Michigan Medicine physician charged with receipt and possession of child pornography and who is being investigated for alleged sexual misconduct involving an adult patient. This individual was immediately removed from patient care duties and reported to the police. He is no longer employed at UM and the University will continue to cooperate fully with this investigation. His patients have been alerted to these allegations and have been provided with information on reporting and support. An experienced national firm with expertise in this area has been retained to investigate. President Schlissel said, “We want to understand how this disturbing situation occurred so that we can best work to prevent such things in the future. We will share findings when the investigation is complete. This occurrence on our own campus, as well as other episodes of sexual misconduct across the country, compel us to remain vigilant while always looking for ways to make this a safer and more supportive university. The University is examining procedures to improve reporting, accountability and support for those who come forward. This is a top institutional priority that includes the board and the executive team.” This will encompass the entire university community, including students, faculty, staff, visitors and patients.

President Schlissel said, “I want to acknowledge the leadership of the Board of Regents, the executive team and the many outstanding experts we have in our community. We care very deeply about this issue and we share a commitment to look each other in the eye and say that we simply won’t tolerate these types of behaviors at the University of Michigan.”

Regent Richner added that nothing is off the table when it comes to protecting the health and safety of the university community.

Regent Newman said allegations will be taken seriously until every member of the university community is safe and respected.

Regent Ilitch commented on the bravery of the women who reported sexual misconduct. Speaking directly to the UM community she said, “report, report, report.”

Presentation: Annual Research Report

President Schlissel then turned the meeting over to Vice President for Research, Jack Hu. Vice President Hu said the mission of the Office of Research is to advance the excellence and integrity of research, scholarship and creative activities across all three campuses. For fiscal year 2017, research expenditures reached $1.48 billion dollars, a record high. Total expenditures from federal sources was $832 million. Research expenditures from industry reached $100 million. Corporate philanthropy also increased. Clinical trials were up by 6.4% to $79.3 million.

Mcity continues to provide an outstanding example of a public-private partnership. Total investments will exceed $100 million by 2020 with funding from UM, government agencies and industry. Currently 53 companies have renewed their investment in Mcity Phase II. Mcubed is a unique, collaborative program that stimulates innovative research with real-time funds and has provided seed funding for 487 projects since 2012. Technology Transfer had a record 444 inventions and 172 U.S. patents issued. He concluded by noting the tremendous uncertainty on the future of federal support for research that underscores the importance of diversified funding sources.
