

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS

Fact Sheet

With increasingly complex governmental oversight and operating environments globally, regulators and legislators have significantly more say and impact on how your business operates at home and abroad.

Korn Ferry's Corporate Affairs Center of Expertise is uniquely qualified to assist with your Government Affairs talent needs. All of our search consultants have previous government and political experience, understand the complexities and nuances of these specialty roles, and are well connected with the best talent in the government affairs, regulatory, public policy, and corporate affairs spaces. Our team works with a wide spectrum of clients and professionals at all levels - local to international - from corporations to advocacy organizations, including non-profits, and trade associations.

These evolving roles may include responsibilities in advocacy communications, public affairs, public policy, regulatory affairs, government relations, legislative affairs, alliance development, and corporate social responsibility/philanthropy - truly anything that affects or enhances the organization or firm's reputation and strategic effectiveness.
